

The ERC-JCR Research Group invites you to participate in an international conference on

Comparative and International aspects of Judicial Conflict Resolution:
The changing role of judges in an age of vanishing trials

Monday, November 26, 2018

Weissfeld Hall, Feldman International Conference Center (Bldg.301).

European Research Council
Established by the European Commission

13:30 Refreshments

14:30-16:00 Quantitative Docket Analysis in England and Wales, Israel and Italy

Linda Mulcahy, London School of Economics

A Risky Business: Understanding the shifting panorama of dispute resolution and settlement in a UK setting

Dana Rosen, Bar-Ilan University and Elise Guazzesi, University of Florence

Vanishing trials in Italy: Between structural incentives and cultural barriers

Ayelet Sela & Limor Gabay Egozi, Bar-Ilan University

Vanishing Trials, Settlement Judges? Data on Judicial Procedural Involvement Shed Light on the Role of Judges in Civil Litigation

16:15-17:45 JCR Practices and Perceptions: Findings from Interviews and Court Observations

Laura Ristori, University of Florence

Judicial Conflict Resolution in Italy: A Tale of two cities.

Hadas Cohen, Bar-Ilan University

Between Settlements and the Quest for Truth, Justice and the Law in Israeli Magistrate Courts

Yosef Zohar and Sari Kanner, Dana Rosen, Bar-Ilan University

Quantitative Mapping and Qualitative inquiry into JCR activities in Marathon Arraignment days in Tel-Aviv magistrate's (peace) court

18:00-19:30 Open Discussion with Judges: Courts and Judges of the Future

Linda Mulcahy, London School of Economics

The Briggs Report: Opportunities and Challenges

Michal Alberstein, Bar-Ilan University

Developing an Israeli Jurisprudence of Judicial Conflict Resolution – Contemporary Challenges

Paola Lucarelli, University of Florence

Changing the judges' approach to the dispute: the Florence experience